

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ALPHABETICAL INDEX

PRÆFACE.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago the degree of Doctor of Philosophy was conferred for the first time at Harvard University, and only a few months earlier—in 1872—the higher instruction was organized which resulted in the permanent establishment of the Graduate Department or School. In the following list, which is the first of its kind, are printed the names of all those who must be regarded as the Graduates of this School. With a few exceptions they have been members of what is now known as the Graduate School, and the studies of all have been carried on under the general direction at first of the Academic Council of the University (1872–1889), and afterwards of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

This list includes only such holders of the higher degrees—Ph.D., S.D., A.M., and S.M.—as have received their degrees after examination and a residence at the University of at least one year. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy and that of Master of Science, which was established in 1897, have never been given as honorary degrees at Harvard University; the degree of Doctor of Science, however, has been so conferred, as also that of Master of Arts. There are or have been, in fact, six classes of Master of Arts of this University:—holders of the degree (1) honoris causa; (2) ad eundem; (3) in course, i. e. Bachelors of three or more years' standing, on the payment of a fee; (4) with a professional degree, but without additional study or residence; (5) with the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; and (6) pro meritis, conferred after residence and examination upon candidates approved by the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, or—before 1890—the Academic Council. The A.M. ad eundem ceased to be conferred early in the present century; the A.M. in course has not been given since 1872; the A.M. with a professional degree but without additional study was conferred only from 1883 to 1895, both years inclusive; and the Ph.D. carried with it the degree of A.M. only from 1877 to 1892. At the present time the degrees of Master of Arts of Harvard University are the A.M. honoris causa, and the A.M. pro meritis. The present list, so far as this degree is concerned, contains the names of the latter kind of Masters of Arts.

The information here given about the holders of the higher degrees is in substance what would appear in the Quinquennial Catalogue revised to date—see the Catalogue for 1895, pp. 67, 68—with certain additional statements about residence and occupation. This comprises: (1) names and post-office addresses of living graduates, or—in the case of those who have died—the date of death and age at death; (2) academic degrees received, with dates,—arranged in chronological order; (3) positions held—similarly arranged—chiefly in colleges and universities; (4) memberships in certain learned societies, and (5) professions or occupations.

The abbreviations used are, in general, self-explanatory.

Where a degree or a position is named without special designation of College or University the reference is to Harvard University. Positions at this University held by annual appointment only are not ordinarily mentioned.

The particular departments of knowledge wherein Doctors of Philosophy and Doctors of Science obtained their degrees are indicated immediately after their names and addresses; and in the case of Masters of Science the Divisions of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences are named upon whose special report the recommendations for the degree were made.

In the case of graduates who have taken more than one of the higher degrees, the full record is given under the degree last received, with a cross reference under the earlier degree.

Graduates who received their degrees out of regular order are placed each under the year in which the studies for the degree were completed, the date when the degree was conferred immediately following the name and address.

It is probable that the next edition of this list will be enlarged in scope so as to include persons who have been members of the School, though not holders of higher degrees from the University.

All who use this Catalogue are earnestly requested to send corrections and additional information to the DEAN OF THE GRADUATE SCHOOL, Harvard University.
